Honey Bee Experience – 2018

Held at the Association apiary which is in the grounds of Shugborough Hall at Milford.

The course will run from 12:00 noon to 4:00pm punctuated by refreshment breaks (bring your own lunch). Tea and coffee are provided.

The session will be divided into four sections :

Session 1

This will cover the biology and life cycle of the honey bee. Understanding the workings of the colony is key to knowing what is normal when we examine a hive. We will learn about the different castes of bees, the queen, workers and drones, their roles in the life of the colony and what to look for when inspecting a hive.

Break for Tea

Session 2

This will cover two main areas:

1. Beekeeping Equipment.

We will present the various options available in the types of beehives and the advantages and disadvantages of each.

2. Working With Bees.

We will also talk about how to examine colonies. Emphasis will be on determining the status of the colony and what it needs. We will talk about what a good brood pattern looks like and how to check whether colonies need to be fed or need to be given extra space.

Break for Cake

Session 3

This session will cover seasonal management. We will go through "a year in the life" of the colony and will talk about what to expect and what needs to be done during each season of the beekeeping year. We will also cover management of diseases and pests of honeybees and the new diseases and parasites that affect our bees today.

Break for Tea and Cake

Session 4

Hands on with the bees - we will open an active colony of bees and examine frames of brood, honey and pollen. We will also find the Queen. You will get to handle a frames of bees. Please note : This part of the day is subject to weather conditions. We will not open the hives in very bad weather.

We will attempt to make Association honey available to taste and buy (subject to availability)
